NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Clear Eyes®, the #1 selling brand of eye drops, today announced its sponsorship of the "Know Your Value" event, taking place on Dec. 1 at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, CA. The sponsorship will serve as an extension of Clear Eyes®' successful #MyShiningMoment initiative, a movement about empowering people in business and in life to achieve and realize their own shining moment.

Started in 2014, the "Know Your Value" movement is designed to create and support an empowered and inclusive community that helps all women recognize, and be recognized for, their personal and professional value by developing and inspiring their individual growth. Inspired by MSNBC's "Morning Joe" co-host and author Mika Brzezinski's New York Times best-selling book, Knowing Your Value, this year's conference will feature prominent public figures, business women, media personalities and celebrities alike, including Academy Award-Winning actress Mira Sorvino, NBC News' Natalie Morales, Time's Up CEO Lisa Borders, and U.S. Senator Kamala Harris to name a few.

"We are so appreciative of Clear Eyes®' support of 'Know Your Value,'" said founder Mika Brzezinski. "I salute them in continuing to help empower and support women who are looking to realize their professional and personal dreams."

"'Know Your Value' is an ideal program for our brand to align with, as it shares a similar mission to Clear Eyes®' #MyShiningMoment. This forum allows us to continue engaging with people to share their unique stories about when they truly shined," said Craig Rudner, Brand Director of Eye Care at Prestige Consumer Healthcare. "Whether it be landing that dream job, getting a promotion or becoming a parent for the first time, the goal of the #MyShiningMoment initiative is to help inspire everyone to see and be the best version of themselves."

As part of the sponsorship, Clear Eyes® will host a series of interactive brand experiences throughout the enriching conference, including having renowned eye photographer, Bridges Aderhold -- who has photographed more than 14,000 people's eyes around the world -- provide conference attendees with the unique opportunity to get their eye portrait taken. The brand will also be hosting a Networking Lunch, where attendees can share their shining moment, serving as a conversation starter to facilitate networking among the group members. Other brand experiences include capturing the "Shining Moments" of the event's speakers and attendees on camera and encouraging them to share these moments with their followers.

About #MyShiningMoment

#MyShiningMoment is a campaign Clear Eyes® introduced last year, where the brand sat down with people from diverse backgrounds to share and capture their shining moment and stories as told through their eyes. Clear Eyes®' #MyShiningMoment activations have popped up this year at various events around the country including the Nolcha Shows during New York Fashion Week; Dress for Success®' Annual Success Summit in Miami; as well as two independent #MyShiningMoment pop-up galleries hosted in New York.
